Provided that this paragraph shall have no effect in relation to any interpleader issue which is tried by a judge whether with or without a jury.

15. Subject to the Criminal Procedure Ordinance and without prejudice to any other law, the Court of Appeal shall, for the purposes of and incidental to the hearing and determination of any appeal or other matter, and the amendment, execution and enforcement of any judgment or order, have all the power, authority and jurisdiction of the High Court.

(2) Any sentence passed by the High Court by virtue of this section in substitution for the sentence passed by a magistrate or the District Court shall, unless the High Court otherwise directs, begin to run from the time when it would have begun to run if passed by the magistrate or the District Court.

If, on an application made by the Attorney General under this section, the High Court is satisfied that any person has habitually and persistently and without any reasonable ground instituted vexatious legal proceedings, whether in the High Court or in any inferior court, and whether against the same person or against different persons, the High Court may, after hearing that person or giving him an opportunity of being heard, order that no legal proceedings shall without the leave of the High Court be instituted by him in any court and that any proceedings instituted by him in any court before the making of the order shall not be continued by him without such leave and such leave shall not be given unless the High Court is satisfied that the proceedings are not an abuse of the process of the Court and that there is prima facie ground for the proceedings.
